

SAFETY FIRST

There's a safe farmer not many miles from this town, who once told us this sure formula to tell a mushroom from a toadstool.

"If you live, it's a mushroom."

There's a similar element of risk in the buying of cheap clothes. It is all a question of whether you want to risk $12 or $15 on a chance, or invest $18, $20 or $25 on a certainty.

At the live store we can sell you a $15 suit as good—and probably better—than you can get anywhere else in this country.

You need never worry about discovering—too late, alas—that your mushroom was, in fact, a toadstool.

And to make assurance doubly sure, this store stands behind their clothes with a guarantee that insures your lasting satisfaction or your money back without a quibble or a frown.

Paris, Oct. 27 (2:44 p. m.)—The French official announcement given out this afternoon says that spirited fighting continues between the mouth of the Yser and Lens; that in this district the Allies have not drawn back, and that they have continued to advance in the region between Ypres and Roulers and elsewhere.

In this part of the front the allied forces have at no point drawn back, and they have continued to make progress in the region between Ypres and Roulers."

GERMANS RUSHING TO CALAIS.

Dispatches reaching London aver that Emperor William has demanded unequivocally that Calais be taken, and a telegram received today, quoting the Saxon Gazette, gives what purports to be an ambitious plan of German invasion, once the north coast of France is in their hands.

Ambitious Plans.

This dispatch purports to contain the following statement by a General in Berlin: "If the English watch on our naval stations in the neighborhood of Heligoland is almost impossible now it will become quite impossible when Belgium and the north coast of France, to the mouth of the Seine, are in German hands."

"In course of time we shall possess Calais and probably Dieppe and Havre. Our twelve-inch Howitzers have the large range of fourteen miles and the seventeen-inch a still greater range. England can expect still more artillery surprises. Even if we can not swoot from the French coast to the English coast, a safety zone could be made for German ships covering more than half the navigable water."

GERMAN LOSSES 10,000 DAILY.

Rome, Oct. 27.—According to official reports received here, the German casualties daily average 10,000 men in killed and wounded. All of those slightly or not gravely wounded, an average of from 70 to 80 per cent, return to the ranks after a relatively short time.

TWO MYSTERIES IN MARSHALL COUNTY

Hardin, Ky.—Down near the little station of Elva, Marshall county, there is a large rock and on this rock is a plain barefoot track of a man, and the track of a horse. The man's track measures about 12 inches and the horse track is about a number four. How these tracks came to be on this rock is quite a mystery, which no one has been able to solve. Hundreds of people have been to see this rock and all pronounce the tracks as genuine, but can offer no explanation. There is also between Hardin and Benton, a large hole of water on top of a high hill, in which no bottom has ever been found, neither does the water rise or fall but remains the same at all seasons of the year. These are two of Marshall county's mysteries that remain unsolved.

THE SMELL OF A HALF-MILLION UNBATHED MEN.

In the November American Magazine Will Irwin, special war correspondent sent to Europe by that publication, describes his personal experiences particularly in Belgium. He was in Brussels and had a pass through the German lines, and he also witnessed the final destruction of Louvain. After describing the German army as it occupied Brussels, he speaks of the army as a "gray machine of death—earth, air and sky." The transport wagons were gray, the uniforms of the soldiers were gray, the motorcycles, airplanes and baggage wagons were gray. Mr. Irwin adds:

"And over it all, lay a smell of which I have never heard mention in any book on war—the smell of a half million unbathed men, the stench of a menagerie raised to the nth power of stench. That smell lay for days over every town through which the Germans passed."

21,976 FORDS SOLD IN SEPTEMBER

The Ford Motor Co. announces that in the month of September there were sold and delivered 21,976 Ford cars. This was a gain of 11,479 cars over September 1913. This is significant not only because it shows that the Ford production is rapidly being increased to meet the stupendous influx of orders, but also because it demonstrates that the Ford Motor Company is maintaining the 300,000 car-schedule necessary to give Ford purchasers between August 1st, 1914 and August 1st, 1915, a share of Ford profits.

We have just received a car-load of the new 1915 models, and can give you immediate delivery. There's nothing to gain by waiting, so order now and enjoy your car this fall and winter.
